FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

Steven Muller, President

Richard P. Longaker, Provost

Richard A. Zdanis, Vice Provost

George Owen, Dean of Homewood Faculties

"Years from now, when this yearbook will mean far more to today's seniors than it does today, they will be able to reflect far better than I now can on the value of their Hopkins education. I would like to think that we have given them a little knowledge, and that we have provided an environment in which the basis of their later wisdom has found a solid footing."

Officially adopted in December, 1885, the seal of the Johns Hopkins University combines the symbols of learning with the aims of Maryland, which embody those of the family of Lord Baltimore. The objects are placed on an azure background on the upper part of a shield bearing the Baltimore arms. The shield is hung upon the bough of an oak and is surrounded by the name of the institution. The motto is inscribed upon a scroll at the bottom of the shield. The words (from the Latin text of St. John VIII, 32) read Veritas Vos Liberabit, "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make ye free."

Continuing the tradition — Of the 36 members of the freshman class who are children of Hopkins alumni, 13 pose on the steps of Gilman Hall. front row, left to right: Pam Diehl, Bryan Koerber, Albert Lee, Kim Stevens, Ayala Hecht. second row: Ted Bernstein, Oren Milgrome, John Cooke, Tim Hsieh, Tamara Doering. third row: Mark Lahner, Marc Offit, Lydell Bowser.

"I think the whole issue of whether or not women should be drafted is just a blind; the issue is whether there should be a draft at all, whether anyone should be forced to go to war."

— Laura Potter '80

"They already got me!"

— Joe Christenson '80

"Khomeini has his problems, but the issue is still the hundreds of innocent children and women's skulls crushed under the Shah's tanks and the thousands of people sick to their hearts of the Shah's dictatorial repression."

— Sha Hsingru '80

"Draft Beer!"

— Caitlin Griffith '82

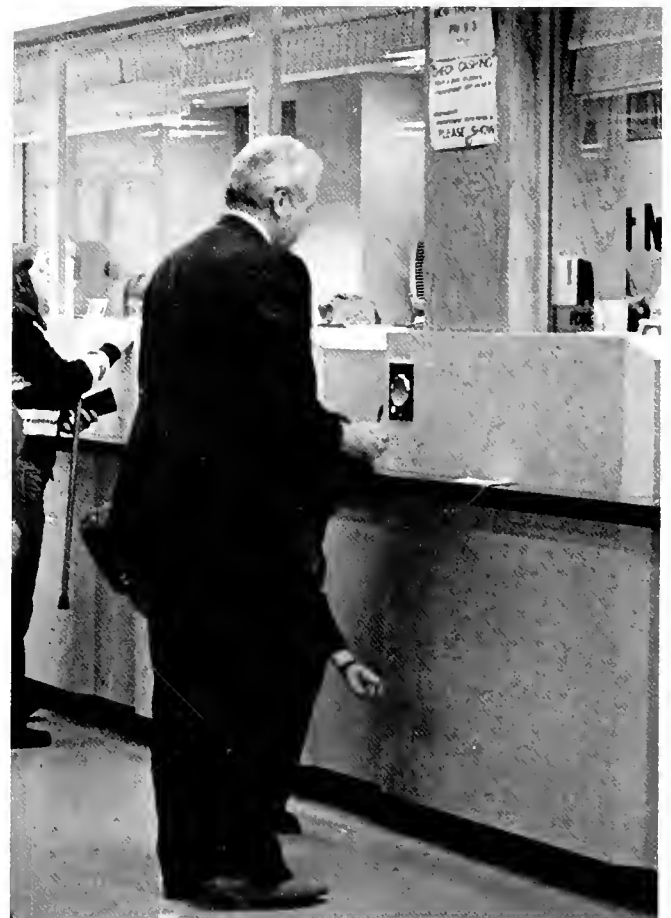

"Inflation won't be stopped until they slow the growth of money supply."
— Julie Davies '80

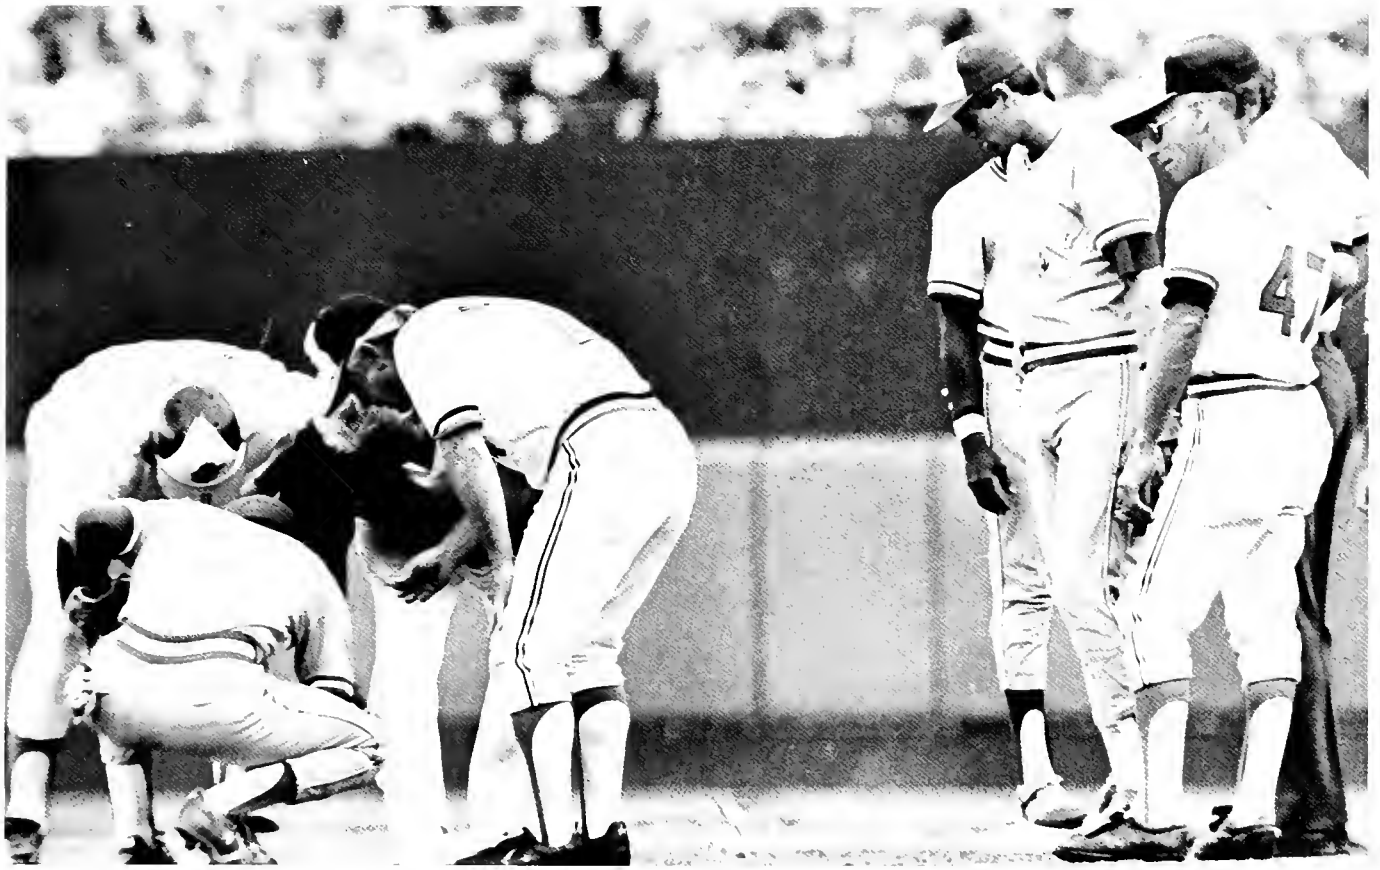

"I think we need a gasoline tax across the board. Only if there is a price increase will Americans realize the need to cut back on oil consumption."
— Neal Kirnon '81

"I completely support President Carter in his call for the boycott of the Moscow Olympics."
— Gail Lee '80

"I really feel sorry for the Olympic athletes, and I think it is an unfortunate intrusion of politics into a concept intended to further international brotherhood."
— Julia Cheng '80

"Well, it looks like another election where I will have to decide upon the least of several evils."
— Jackie Gunn Coolidge '80

"Students here can do anything that they want to, provided that they have the initiative — the academic opportunities at Hopkins are very good. One of the best educational aspects of this university is the chance for close interaction with professors. I think this has been very valuable."

— Karen Braunwald '80

"The research experience at Hopkins is one of the best undergraduate opportunities one can have. I've gained a tremendous amount of training in electron microscopy."

— Roberta Gottlieb '80

"I feel that the difficulty of the undergraduate programs here is a great asset to Hopkins. You work very hard to achieve. That is as important as the actual academic work that you do here, because the ability to work efficiently and effectively is essential to success."

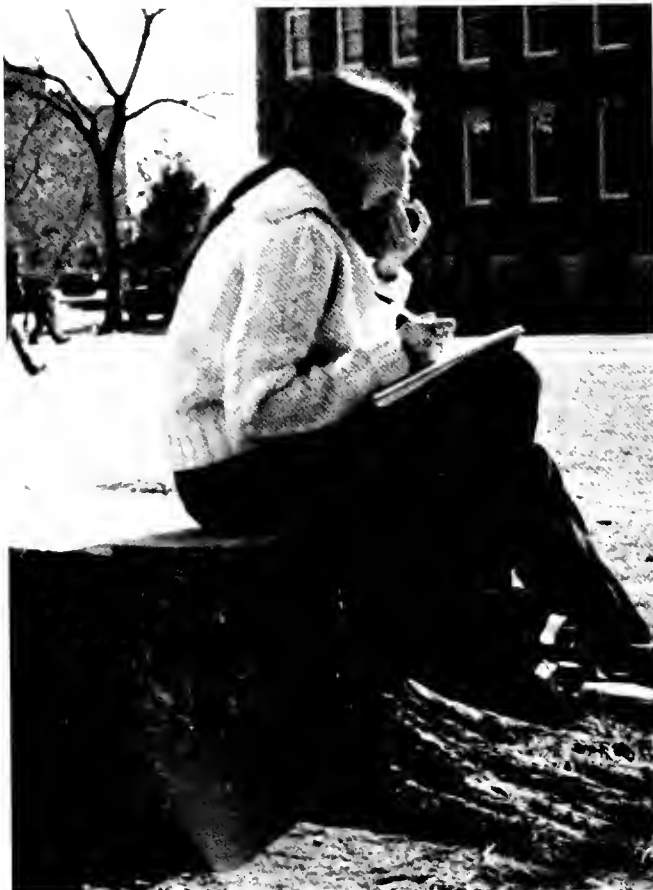

— Fritz Westcott '80

"Errare humanum est"

— Dagmar Schnader '80

"There are three priorities at the News-Letter. 1) Fill Space. 2) Fill Space on Time. 3) Fill Space Well. With this firm ethical foundation upon which to teeter, the News-Letter once again sputtered and jerked across the stuck-together pages of Hopkins history. No story was too big for us to miss, no word too simple for us to misspell. Thanks to a coordinated and empassioned effort, bad taste and cheap sensationalism were pushed to dizzy heights unthinkable scant years before. As plucky photo editor Dave Newman said when he attempted to sum up vital News-Letter spirit: 'Aw, that's close enough for government work.' Who were the people behind the mistakes? Ordinary people for the most part, but people who carried a vision in their breasts and a few drinks under their belts. People who believed deeply in the sacred tenets of journalism, but who decided to work for the News-Letter anyway. That's life, folks." — Cates Baldrige, editor-in-chief, '80

"Orientation is about the best time to really relax and enjoy yourself at Hopkins. It's so easy to pretend that there's no work ahead!"
— Dale Fike '83

Orientation was fun, but the beer should have been free. It's definitely the best time to party."
— Lee Wagstaff '83

Orientation? It was incredible. A week of non-stop partying and millions of new names and faces. There is so much going on that it's hard to do everything. It didn't seem to end until midterms!"
— Nancy Chang '83

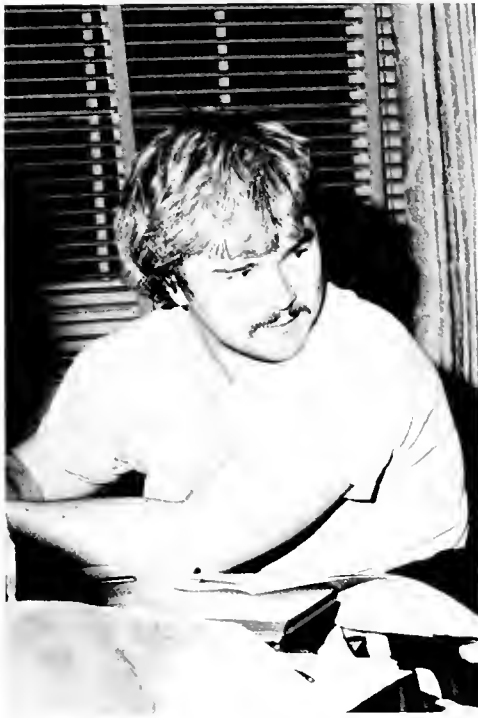

"The office of the Chaplain runs a city wide tutorial, a cultural film series, and "Chester's Place" for entertainment. If any outside political or religious organization wishes to work on our campus, it is the Chaplain's office that acts as co-sponsor.

There seems to be a raucous uproar over the Office of the Chaplain and its sponsorship of various "leftist" events. "They shouldn't use my tuition dollars to support projects I don't support . . ." etc. The truth of the matter is our tuition dollars should be used for education, and the purpose of education is to enable people to make intelligent decisions. Intelligent decisions are made when one thoroughly examines opposing viewpoints and chooses between them. The Office of the Chaplain strives to give alternate views the exposure and attention they deserve."

— Frank Kim '80

"There are, of course, good and bad aspects of student government at Hopkins. When the Student Council or SAC or other group actually does something — like the Spring Fair or the Eisenhower Symposium — the students involved put alot of time, talent, and energy into it and the result is of really high quality. Unfortunately, government here sometimes falls to the level of petty bickering and personality differences play too important a role. Then these groups are prevented from reaching their full potentials."

— Jeff Aronson '80

"The ability of any student government body ultimately depends upon the people involved in the organization. Therefore, in the case of the Student Council, the real work is done in the committees. The Council has only 21 members, and their actual function is to endorse or disregard committee work. It is in this capacity that student interaction is most essential."

— Chuck Peifer '82

"Initially I entered student government because I wanted to help improve student life here rather than just sit around and complain about it. When the Council attempts a specific program that relates to students, then we get results. Too often, I think, it wastes its time with irrelevant or silly issues and hence alienates the student body. We spent a whole evening debating nuclear waste disposal once. Morals, ethics, and ideals are all great, but what we need is something practical. The direct concerns of students are what the Council should be addressing. I may not agree with everything the Council, the class, and other groups have done, but I've enjoyed my experiences in this area. I do think we've accomplished some very successful things."

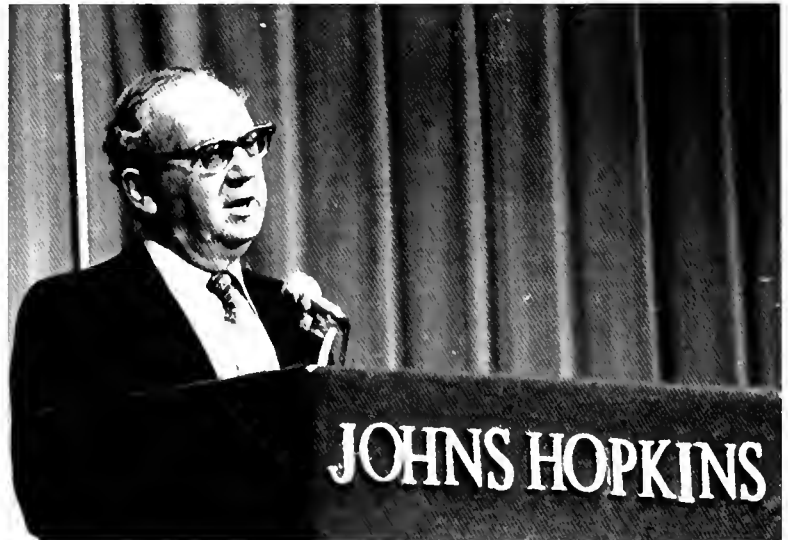

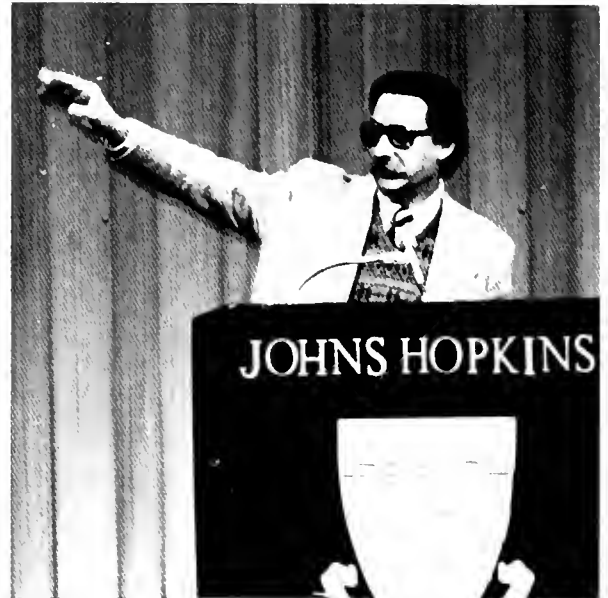

— Marshall Salant '80

The 1979 Milton S. Eisenhower Symposium was titled The Direction of Technology — Choosing Tomorrow's Alternatives, and was chaired by seniors Howard Fox and Sharon Sinsky.

"This year's Symposium sought to present information about current scientific and technological advancements which may soon influence our lifestyles. Speakers discussed these advancements, explained who currently has the power of decision over their application, and proposed how we as citizens can influence these decisions. Our guests also provided insight into the role of rapidly changing technology in society and how it affects us individually." —

Howard Fox '80

Clockwise from top: Joseph Weizenbaum, Leonard Silk, Ralph Nader, Gene Youngblood, co-chairman Howard Fox. Other speakers included Norman Rasmussen, Edward David, Erwin Chargaff, Gerard Pid, and Vance Packard.

3400 On Stage, the Johns Hopkins Spring Fair, was "A Musical Celebration" and was chaired by seniors Jeff Aronson and Ross Margolies.

"IT WAS GREAT BEING ON A WINNING TEAM"

- J. Margraff

Captains (top to bottom) Rick Broadhurst, Ned Sacha, Ken Bess.

above top: Tom Meurer;
middle: Jim Margraff, Tom Meurer, Rick Law; bottom: Jeff Harris.

"Of course our stars did well — but they wouldn't have unless all the team did well. We have a good group of talented players and they all deserve recognition."
— Coach Howdy Myers

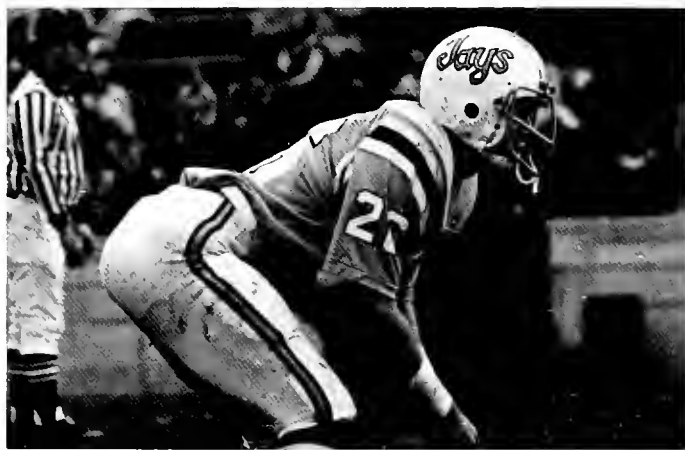

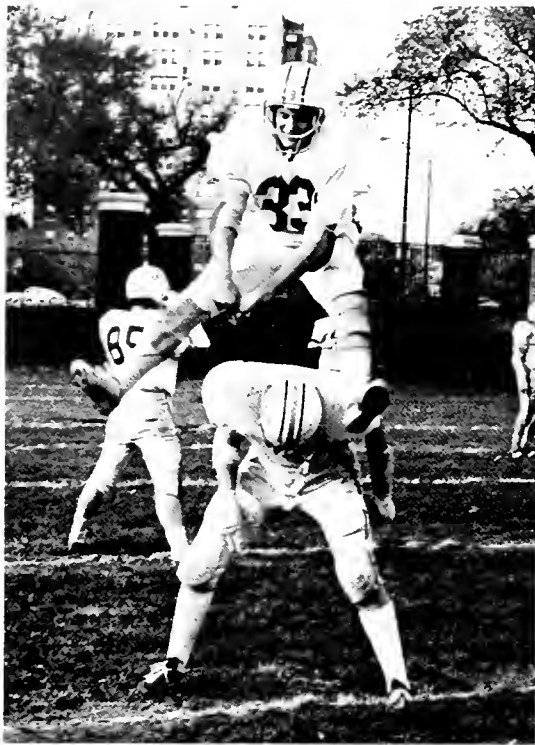

"Our winning season was important for more reasons than just having a good record on paper. It really minimized extraneous problems for the team. Whenever you have success, you develop a sense of pride and accomplishment that grows increasingly stronger. All the players liked working with our coaches and were proud to be on the Hopkins team. Because of this, you'll see a tremendous increase in the quality of football here."
— John Scully

"A great thing about Howdy was his fairness, and the discipline that went along with that. We were all expected to follow certain rules — no exceptions. This really pulled the team together. Everyone had a lot of respect for Howdy, and that's one big reason why he was such an effective coach."
— Mike Miller

"This year's high point was the touchdown pass that Billy Stromberg caught in the Georgetown game. I'll remember playing football at Hopkins all four years, though. It's been very enjoyable — the people have been fantastic. I'm going to miss it."
— Joel Hansen

Howard "Howdy" Myers died February 12, 1980 at the age of 69. Howdy led the Hopkins grid team to its first winning season in six years, compiling a 5-4 record after assuming the head coaching position in August, 1979.

Coach Myers began his first tenure at Johns Hopkins in 1947, where he established himself as one of the nation's premiere football and lacrosse coaches. His lacrosse teams captured three consecutive national titles. He simultaneously turned the football team around, capturing the Mason-Dixon Conference championship in 1948.

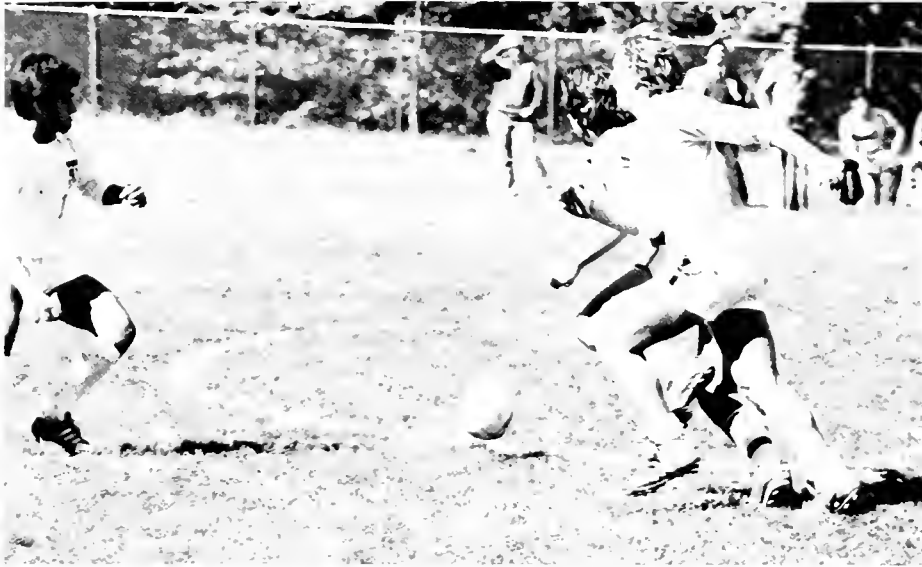

Greatly respected and revered both as a coach and as an individual, he will be deeply missed by all.

Captain Marty Wolf

Mahammed Ali.

"I'd have to say that overall it was a disappointing season, but it was a rebuilding year. A good thing about the team was that it was young — they'll be able to play together for several years and develop a strong team. Muhammed Ali, a freshman, accounted for over 50% of our scoring. Since traditionally our strength has been mainly in our defense, this kind of playing will increase the general quality of our team. I wish I could play for a few more years!"

— Marty Wolf

"Tying Haverford and beating Franklin and Marshall were the high points of the season. When we played F&M we had five players out with injuries and most of us were in new positions, but we played a tough game and everything came together. Marty was a great captain not only because he's a good leader and kept the team together, but because he's a very good player. He has excellent control and gives 100% all the time."

— Lucien Brush

"One of the best aspects of our team was our sense of being a team. On and off the field, we worked together. That camaraderie was important. We didn't have that impressive a record, but we had a lot of fun playing. Soccer is a great game."

— Bob Ramage

"We train and compete hard, and in the end we see the results of that effort. It doesn't always have to be a victory to be rewarding, either. The climax of the season was the Maryland meet, which we lost in the last relay by hundredths of a second. We didn't beat them, but we sure scared the %#/ out of them!"

VOLUME LXXXIX NUMBER XXVI THE JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY MAY 15, 1980

Prop. B Wins By Landslide;
Council Invalidates Election*Prop. B Changes
Council Operations

The Council, which met last night, approved a resolution to change its operating procedures. The resolution, which was proposed by Prop. B, was passed by a vote of 10-2. The resolution states that the Council shall have the authority to elect its members and to determine its own rules of procedure. It also states that the Council shall have the authority to elect its officers and to determine their terms of office.

New Council Censures Old
On Decision To Invalidate

The new Council, which was elected last night, has issued a statement censuring the old Council for its decision to invalidate the election of Prop. B. The statement states that the old Council's decision was "unjust and unfair" and that the new Council will not recognize the old Council's decision. The statement also states that the new Council will continue to operate as the governing body of the university.

The Council, which met last night, approved a resolution to change its operating procedures. The resolution, which was proposed by Prop. B, was passed by a vote of 10-2. The resolution states that the Council shall have the authority to elect its members and to determine its own rules of procedure. It also states that the Council shall have the authority to elect its officers and to determine their terms of office.

It is not necessary for me to dwell on the time and energy spent in producing a publication such as this. I only hope that the efforts of those involved have resulted in a creditable volume. I extend my sincere apology on behalf of the staff to Joel Oshtry for the error in the 1979 Hullabaloo, and would like to express my thanks to Chris Colombo, John Duncan, Bob Hewes, James Lightner, and the Johns Hopkins Magazine for their assistance this year. David Newman and Anne McElwee deserve very special thanks for their wonderful support and last-minute saves. I couldn't have done this without them.
